Greased Pole
by John Johnson

Verse:

Life's like climbing up a greased pole
You're getting higher and higher
It's just like climbing up a greased pole
You're getting higher and higher
When you're young it seems like fun
You're getting higher and higher
Rising fast your face up in the sun
You're getting higher and higher
50,000 miles up in the sky
You're getting higher and higher
I'm headed for danger and I don't know why
You're getting higher and higher

Bridge 1:

Wake up, it's only a dream
Nothin' ain't nothin' quite the way that it seems

Why does everybody have to be so mean
You're getting higher and higher
Why can't they all see what I see
You're getting higher and higher
Look for love if it's there to be found
You're getting higher and higher
Just make sure you don't bring somebody down
You're getting higher and higher

Bridge 2:

They crack the whip your getting higher and higher

Now you're forty and you're getting scared
You're getting higher and higher
You got a pot belly and you're losing you're hair
You're getting higher and higher
Eat fast food smoke three packs a day
You're getting higher and higher
Don't worry about me baby I'm OK
You're getting higher and higher
You're gonna work for fifty years
You're getting higher and higher
Hey, this ain't slavery it's a career
You're getting higher and higher

Bridge 1:

Where's God I'm way too high
You're getting higher and higher
Let me know if you should see him fly by
You're getting higher and higher
Life's like climbing up a greased pole
You're getting higher and higher
It's just like climbing up a greased pole
You're getting higher and higher
