Soul Wind
by John Johnson

Verse:

I can hear the moaning in the branches
Every time that soul wind blows
Chills you to your bones
And knows everything you've ever known leave you freezing in the shadows
Can't wait till that Soul Winds gone

Verse:

Sometimes i can hear voices
Whispering to me in the wind
Lonely ancient voices
No one remembers when Telling the deep dark secrets
That only the soul wind sends

Verse:

Oh lord i miss my baby
Why did she have to go away
A wind blew in and chilled her
On that wretched awful day
I'm just so God damn lonely
Wish the soul wind would leave today

Verse:

I'm gonna leave this city
I'm going to get out of this town
I'll just pack what i can carry
No point for me to stay around
Maybe past the next horizon
I won't hear the soul wind coming down
